Lecture: 1 Introduction to Text of Hadith

Definition of Hadith: Linguistically and terminologically

The word hadith means something new or a piece of information.

Hadith:1. A narrative record of the sayings or customs of Muhammad(SM) and his companions. 2. : the collective body of traditions relating to Muhammad(SM) and his companions.

Importance of text of Hadith:

Understanding the meaning of Hadith through translation excluding the original text arises some problems.

The difference between a book's original version and its translation lies primarily in the language in which the content is presented. Here are a few key points to consider when looking at the distinctions between the original version and a translated version of a book:

Language:

The most obvious distinction is the language itself. The original version of a book is written in the language in which the author composed it, while a translated version is written in a different language. Translators work to convey the meaning, tone, style, and nuances of the original text into the target language as faithfully as possible.

Cultural nuances: Languages are deeply tied to specific cultures, and certain words, phrases, or concepts may not have direct equivalents in another language. Translators must navigate these cultural nuances to accurately convey the meaning of the original text.

Style and tone:

Authors have unique writing styles and tones that can be challenging to replicate in a translation. Translators must balance staying true to the author's voice while ensuring the text is accessible and engaging for readers in the target language.

Idioms and wordplay:

Idioms, wordplay, and cultural references can be particularly tricky to translate. Translators often need to find creative solutions to convey the intended meaning without losing the essence of the original text.

Length and structure:

Translations may vary in length compared to the original text due to differences in language structure and syntax. Translators must sometimes make adjustments to maintain the flow and structure of the text in the target language.

Accuracy:

Translators strive to maintain accuracy in translating the content of the original text. However, some nuances or subtleties may be lost in translation due to the inherent differences between languages.

Reader experience:

The reader's experience of a translated book may differ from reading the original version. While a good translation can capture the essence of the original work, there may be subtle differences in how the text resonates with readers in different languages.

In summary, while a translated version aims to faithfully convey the meaning and spirit of the original text, differences in language, culture, style, and nuances can impact the way the content is presented to readers.

Relation between Hadith and Ethics :

This edited volume addresses the link between ḥadīth (Prophetic reports) and ethics, or what can be termed as “ḥadīth-based ethics.” Despite ḥadīth (or Sunna) historically being the second normative source in Islam after the Qur’ān. Indeed, ḥadīth played a key role in the development of Islamic thought and in forming ‘ulūm al-sharī’a (Islamic sciences), as has been noted by some contemporary scholars.

Approaching ḥadīth as a reference for ethics reflects the intensity of the ethical content contained in the Prophetic traditions and practices. To do so, one can distinguish between two levels of analysis. At the first level, the Prophetic Sunna is approached as a revealed reference or an exemplary application of the revelation. At the second level, the Sunna is approached as a historical reference for the ethics that prevailed in the formative period of Islamic history. The mainstream position in Islamic history has held that declaring things and actions as good (ṭaḥṣīn) or bad (taḡbīḥ) should be premised on revelation, not on human intellect as claimed by the Mu’tazila. If this is the case, then it should have been the standard that the Qur’ān and ḥadīth are the sources of both legislation and ethics. Historical reality, however, shows such theorising in Islamic legal theory (uṣūl al-fiqh) and jurisprudence (fiqh) but not so much in the field of Islamic ethics, where the role of ḥadīth or Sunna, like the Qur’ān, has been marginalised in classical Islamic moral philosophy..

In contrast to the case of theoretical ethics, the practical and behavioral elements of the Prophetic ḥadīth have received extensive attention by ḥadīth scholars who have produced a vast genre, including the ethical aspects of Sunna. An extensive amount of ḥadīth literature has also been dedicated to ādāb (sing. adab, etiquettes and good manners) which have sometimes addressed professional ethics, such as the ādāb of the narrator of ḥadīth and the one who listens to him (ādāb al-rāwī wa-l-sāmi‘), and the ādāb of the senior and junior jurists (ādāb al-faqīh wa-l-mutafaqqih). Additionally, some books have focused on outlining good and bad character (maḥāsīn al-akhlāq wa-masāwī‘uhā), religious etiquettes (al-ādāb al-shar‘iyya), the etiquette of dealing with parents (birr al-wālidayn) and so forth. Other books are dedicated to the virtues and vices (al-faḍā‘il wa-l-radḥā‘il); books enlisting incentives to do good (targhīb) and deterrents from doing evil (tarhīb); books concerned with the branches of faith (shu‘ab al-īmān); books on virtues which vary according to persons, ages and times; and the Sufi literature on asceticism (zuhd), remembrance of God, supplication (ādāb al-du‘ā‘), spiritual diseases of the heart (i‘tilāl al-qulūb) and so on (al-Kattānī 1993, 50–60).

Hazrat Abu Huraira: Abu Hurairah stands at the top of the list of Hadith transmitters. This is because of .1
the sheer bulk of his narrations. He was regarded by the Prophet himself as the most eager, among all Muslims, to acquire the knowledge of Hadith in Masnud Ibn Mukhlad narrated 5,374 Hadith from him.

Abdullah ibn ‘Umar: The son of Caliph ‘Umar ibn Al-Khattab, Ibn ‘Umar is the second most prolific .2 narrator of Hadith. He has narrated 2,630 Hadith.

A’ishah, The Mother of the Believers: Occupies the fourth place. It was on account of her extensive .4
knowledge of Hadith and Islamic law that even the most important Companions sought her advice on jurisprudential problems. Ahadith narrated by her are 2,210.

Abdullah ibn ‘Abbas: He was born three years before the Prophet’s Hijrah and was thirteen years old at the .5

Number of Hadith narrated by him are 848.

Some famous books of hadith.

Hereunder are the names of twenty original/primary sources:

- 1.The Sahih of Imams: Bukhari, Muslim, Ibn Khuzaymah & Ibn Hibban (rahimahumullahu jami'an).
- 2.The Sunan of Imams: Abu Dawud, Tirmidhi, Ibn Majah, Nasai, Darimi, Sa'id Ibn Mansur, Bayhaqi (rahimahumullahu jami'an).
- 3.The Musannaf of Imams: `Abdur Razzaq, Ibn Abi Shaybah & Baqiy Ibn Makhlad (rahimahumullahu jami'an).
- 4.The Musnads of Imams: Ahmad, Is-haq Ibn Rahuyah, Ibn Abi Shaybah, Abu Dawud At-Tayalisi, Abu Ya'la, Bazzar (rahimahumullahu jami'an).

Ten famous non-primary Hadith books

1. Mishkatul Masabih,2. At-Targhib Wat-Tarhib of `Allamah Mundhiri,3. Riyadus Sawlihin,4. Al-Matjarur Rabih,5. Hisnul Hasin,6. Majma'uz Zawaid,7. Al-Maqasidul Hasanah,8. Al-Qawlul Badi'9. Al-Jami'us Saghir,10. Al-Jami'ul Kabir,

As a rule, the mere existence of a Hadith in a Hadith book; be it a primary or non primary source doesn't necessitate the authenticity of that narration. Unless the author ensures so, as is the case with the books entitled: 'Sahih' like Sahih Bukhari, Muslim, Ibn Khuzaymah and Ibn Hibban.

From the non primary sources, the kitab Riyadus Sawlihin enjoys the same privilege, since the author guaranteed that every Hadith therein will be authentic.

If that is not the case (i.e, the author does not guarantee authenticity) then each narration will have to be vetted on an individual basis.

The originality of text of hadith

The Language of the Prophet (SW) was Arabic. That's why the Quran reviled in Arabic language and the Prophet (SW) explained the Quran in Arabic. So originality of the text of Hadith is Arabic. Arabic, a Semitic language that is thousands of years old, is known as the one and only language of the Quran and Haith and the official language of Islamic countries. But, the sphere of influence enjoyed by this language is actually much larger. Islamic civilization has crossed every border and has become part of every culture on the planet. Each of the Arabic-speaking countries of the Middle East and North Africa speaks a slightly different version of Arabic, with different words, phrases and colloquial expressions.

When it comes to written Arabic, the picture is much more straightforward. The dominant form of written Arabic is Modern Standard Arabic (Msa), which is generally what any Arabic course will focus on as it is the form of Arabic which is used internationally. There is another version; classical Arabic. Classical Arabic is what is used in the Holy book of Islam, the Quran and Hadith. The good news is that Msa and classical Arabic aren't too dissimilar, and many native speakers use them almost interchangeably. So given that classical Arabic is the language used in the Quran and Hadith, it is not difficult to see that learning Arabic and the Muslim world go hand in hand. In an attempt to highlight the vital role Arabic plays in Islamic culture, Super prof has taken a comprehensive look at reasons you may want to learn Arabic today.

عن عُمَرَ بْنِ الْخَطَّابِ رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُ قَالَ : سَمِعْتُ رَسُولَ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ يَقُولُ إِنَّمَا الْأَعْمَالُ بِالنِّيَّاتِ وَإِنَّمَا لِغُلَامٍ مِمَّا نَوَى فَمَنْ كَانَتْ هِجْرَتُهُ إِلَى اللَّهِ وَرَسُولِهِ فَهِجْرَتُهُ إِلَى اللَّهِ وَرَسُولِهِ وَمَنْ كَانَتْ هِجْرَتُهُ لِدُنْيَا يُصِيبُهَا أَوْ امْرَأَةٍ يَتَرَوُّجُهَا فَهِجْرَتُهُ إِلَى مَا هَاجَرَ إِلَيْهِ.

Translation:

On the authority of ‘Umar ibn al-Khattab (may Allah be pleased with him), who said: I heard Allah’s Messenger saying that: Actions are judged according to their intentions, so everyone will be rewarded for what he intends. Thus whoever makes hijrah (migration from his birth place to another place) for the sake of Allah (Swt) and His Messenger, his hijrah will be (considered) for the cause of Allah and His Messenger, and whoever makes hijrah for a worldly benefit or to marry a woman, his hijrah is (considered) for what he made (it) for. سَمِعْتُ (v.t.) p.t.- I heard

رَسُولُ اللَّهِ: The Prophet of Allah (pbuh)

يَقُولُ (v.t.)(present tense) he says (here I heard the Prophet of Allah saying that...)

إِنَّمَا: Indeed, surely.

الْأَعْمَالُ (n.) pl. of عمل. The actions, works, activities.

النِّيَّاتُ (n.) pl. of نية - intentions, purposes, objectives.

نَوَى v.t, p.t. he intended.

هِجْرَةٌ n, migration from one place to another place. Here the word هجرة is an Islamic terminology, which signifies migration from a land where a Muslim is unable to live to the precepts of his faith to a land where it is possible to do so. The Hijrah par excellence for a Muslim is the Hijrah of the Prophet (Saw) which not only provided him and his followers refuge from Persecution, but also the opportunity to build a society and state according to the ideals of Islam. In fact Hijrah is a duty of every Muslim.

The word "هجرة" also denotes to give up or to leave something, to cut up the connection with somebody. In this consideration هجرة means to give up whatever Allah and His Messenger have ordered to give up.

يُنكِحُهَا (v.t, pr.t.) he marries.

يُصِيبُهَا (v.t,) مصدر (إصابة) to score, to obtain, to get.

لِدُنْيَا يُصِيبُهَا : to worldly benefit, which may obtain.

إِمْرَأَةً يُنْكِحُهَا : to a lady, whom he (wishes to) marry.

Guidance and lessons from the Hadith:

The Muslim scholars opine that this great Hadith is considered as one of the important pillars of Islamic ideology, which forms the sum and substance of Islamic teachings. This Hadith has rightly been identified as the core of the ethics and morality envisaged by Divine Faith.

Intention or نية means “will” its importance ranks very high in Islam. It is the one and the main factor that distinguishes the purpose of one’s deed. It determines whether this deed is solely and exclusively for the sake of Allah or not. Without correct intention any work is not considered as an ‘Ibadah’ whatever good it may be, rather it may be considered as an ‘adah’ or habit.

Two kinds of Hijrah:

As an example of different results of the same deed due to difference of intention, the reference has been made to two different Hijrah in the Hadith.

(a) The Hijrah for the sake of Allah and His messenger:

This is if any one migrates from his abode to another place for the sake of Allah (Swt) and with the intention to lead his life according to the teachings of Islam, his Hijrah will be considered as Hijrah for the sake of Allah and His messenger, and it is an act of ‘Ibadah’, for which he deserves great reward.

(b) Hijrah for worldly benefit:

This is if anyone performs a great deed like Hijrah but his intention is not for the sake of Allah, rather for getting some worldly benefits. This Hijrah will not be considered as an act of ‘Ibadah’, and for this he will not deserve that reward which is due for the migrants for Allah’s sake. Example of this kind of Hijrah has been cited with the hijrah for marrying a woman. (relating to a person did his hijrah for marrying a woman named Umm Qais.)

عَنْ تَمِيمِ الدَّارِيِّ – رَضِيَ اللَّهُ عَنْهُ- قَالَ : قَالَ رَسُولُ اللَّهِ صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ "الدِّينُ النَّصِيحَةُ" ثَلَاثًا، قُلْنَا: لِمَنْ هِيَ يَا رَسُولَ اللَّهِ قَالَ : لِلَّهِ عَزَّ وَجَلَّ , وَلِكِتَابِهِ وَلِرَسُولِهِ- صَلَّى اللَّهُ عَلَيْهِ وَسَلَّمَ -وَلِأَيِّمَةِ الْمُسْلِمِينَ وَعَامَتِهِمْ. (أَخْرَجَهُ مُسْلِم).

Translation:

On the authority of Tamim at-Dari (may Allah be pleased with him) who reported that Allah's Messenger (Saw) said: The religion is naseeha (good counsel and sincerity). The companions of the Prophet (Saw) said: O Allah's Messenger! To whom? The Prophet said: To Allah, His Book, His Messenger, to Muslim leaders and their masses. (Reported by Imam Muslim).

Language Learning:word meaning:*Rules of writing: Arabic Alphabet and its various kind*Ethical description of the Hadith:*Vocabulary and Terminologies:

الدين: n. the way of life, here Islam, article (ال) before it, is a definite article, indicating to a specific way of life, pl. أديان. It also denotes resurrection or retaliation. e.g. مالك يوم الدين (The Day of Resurrection)

النصيحة: n. participle. Naseeha is a comprehensive Islamic term, which means more than giving good counsel and advice, it also represents all forms of sincerity in all walks of life, to all people, the rulers and the ruled in worldly and religious matters. It also implies good deeds, faithful intention and well wishing for others.

Lesson from the Hadith

This concise Hadith, according to some Islamic scholars, is equal to one quarter of the religion. It comprises of all constituents of al-Islam, belief and practice, essentials and less essentials, words and actions.

Since al-Islam is based on giving Naseeha, this requires that everyone has to perform his duties properly and avoid prohibitions. Thus one can attain the position of al-Ihsan.

Naseeha for Allah, the Great and Almighty means, having pure and complete belief in Him, with full satisfaction and sincerity to this belief, loving for Him and hating for Him, waging war against the enemies of al-Islam, pure obedience to Him as well as sparing no efforts to gain His contentment and satisfaction.

Naseeha for his Prophet (Saw) is believing in the Message of Islam, obeying his commandments. Since this constitutes obedience to Allah (Swt), it also includes learning and teaching his Sunnah as well as defending against any conspiracy for denying its importance.

Naseeha for the leaders of the Muslims is demonstrating obedience to them in what is right, reminding them if they do any wrong and giving them good counsel and advice as well as praying to Allah (Swt) to help them and guide them on the upright path.

Naseeha for the Muslim commons implies giving them good advice, taking interest in their affairs and caring for their interests as well as showing them the best way that leads them to good in this present life and in the Hereafter.

Lecture: 4 . Guidance & Knowledge from Allah

عَنْ أَبِي مُوسَى، عَنِ النَّبِيِّ ﷺ قَالَ " مَثَلُ مَا بَعَثَنِي اللَّهُ بِهِ مِنَ الْهُدَى وَالْعِلْمِ كَمَثَلِ الْغَيْثِ الْكَثِيرِ أَصَابَ أَرْضًا، فَكَانَ مِنْهَا نَقِيَّةٌ قَبِلَتْ الْمَاءَ، فَأَنْبَتَتِ الْكَلَّا وَالْعُشْبَ الْكَثِيرَ، وَكَانَتْ مِنْهَا أَجَادِبُ أَمْسَكَتِ الْمَاءَ، فَنَفَعَ اللَّهُ بِهَا النَّاسَ، فَشَرِبُوا وَسَقَوْا وَزَرَعُوا، وَأَصَابَتْ مِنْهَا طَائِفَةٌ أُخْرَى، إِنَّمَا هِيَ قِيعَانٌ لَا تُمْسِكُ مَاءً، وَلَا تَنْبُتُ كَلًّا، فَذَلِكَ مَثَلُ مَنْ فَقِهَ فِي دِينِ اللَّهِ وَنَفَعَهُ مَا بَعَثَنِي اللَّهُ بِهِ، فَعَلِمَ وَعَلَّمَ، وَمَثَلُ مَنْ لَمْ يَرْفَعْ بِذَلِكَ رَأْسًا، وَلَمْ يَقْبَلْ هُدَى اللَّهِ الَّذِي أُرْسِلْتُ بِهِ ". قَالَ أَبُو عَبْدِ اللَّهِ قَالَ إِسْحَاقُ وَكَانَ مِنْهَا طَائِفَةٌ قِيلَتْ الْمَاءُ. قَاعٌ يَغْلُوهُ الْمَاءُ، وَالصَّفْصَفُ الْمُسْتَوِي مِنَ الْأَرْضِ. (رواه البخاري)

Narrated Abu Musa: The Prophet ﷺ said, "The example of guidance and knowledge with which Allah has sent me is like abundant rain falling on the earth, some of which was fertile soil that absorbed rain water and brought forth vegetation and grass in abundance. (And) another portion of it was hard and held the rain water and Allah benefited the people with it and they utilized it for drinking, making their animals drink from it and for irrigation of the land for cultivation. (And) a portion of it was barren which could neither hold the water nor bring forth vegetation (then that land gave no benefits). The first is the example of the person who comprehends Allah's religion and gets benefit (from the knowledge) which Allah has revealed through me (the Prophets and learns and then teaches others. The last example is that of a person who does not care for it and does not take Allah's guidance revealed through me (He is like that barren land)"

SUMMARY: The Prophet (ﷺ) compared the example of guidance and knowledge with abundant rain falling on the earth, some of which was fertile soil that absorbed rain water and brought forth vegetation and grass in abundance while another portion was hard and held the rain water for people to utilize it. The first is an example of a person who comprehends Allah's religion and gets benefit from it while the last is an example of a person who does not care for it.

QUICK LESSONS:

Utilize God's blessings such as knowledge wisely so we can benefit ourselves as well as others around us by teaching them what we have learned too .

EXPLANATIONS:

This hadith explains how Allah has sent us guidance and knowledge like abundant rainfall on earth. Some parts are like fertile soil that absorb this rainfall, bringing forth vegetation and grass in abundance. Other parts are hard land that hold this rainfall so people can utilize it for drinking, making their animals drink from it or irrigating land for cultivation. The first part is an example of a person who comprehends Allah's religion, learns from it, benefits from it then teaches others about what they have learned. The second part is an example of someone who does not care about Allah's guidance revealed through His prophets. This hadith teaches us to be grateful to God by utilizing His blessings such as knowledge wisely so we can benefit ourselves as well as others around us by teaching them what we have learned too.

Definition of علم

The word or phrase علم refers to a superior skill that you can learn by study and practice and observation, or having knowledge of, or a general conscious awareness, or the process of perceiving, or clear or deep perception of a situation, or coming to understand something clearly and distinctly

Definition of the Fiqh [Jurisprudence]

The word "Fiqh" in the Arabic language, means "understanding", and the jurist is called "Faqih" because he understands the Glorious Qur'an and the Pure Sunnah [sayings and practices of the prophet (s)], and derives Islamic precepts and laws therefrom.

Having known the linguistic meaning of Fiqh, let us now understand what the "science of Fiqh" means. It means the science which studies different Islamic precepts and laws by reasoning and deduction, such as, the precepts concerning family, State, work, trade, companies and banks, as well as the precepts concerning the Salat, the Sawm, the Hajj and the Zakah, for the purpose of applying or practising them. The science of Fiqh is of great importance to Islam. That is why the Messenger of Allah (s) said, "When Allah wants a servant to be good, He makes him understand the religion".

Translation

On the authority of Abu Hurayra (may Allah be pleased with him) who said: I heard Allah's Messenger (Saw) saying: abstain from what I have forbidden you to do, and do what I have commanded you to do as much as you can. Verily those who were before you were destroyed because of their excessive questions and their differing with their prophets.

وَاجْتِلَافُهُمْ : their differing , (اجْتِلَافٌ) , difference

عَلَى أَنْبِيَائِهِمْ : with (against) their prophets.

Lesson from the Hadith:

This concise Hadith pinpoints three important areas of a Muslim's behavior and his conduct individually and collectively. They are:

- (a) To avoid illegal activities without exception.
- (b) To perform all that are in one's ability among the Islamic commandments.
- (c) To avoid asking too many questions, especially about the matters that are not mentioned or discussed by Allah (Swt) or His Messenger.

This is clearly indicating to one important matter that the prophet (Saw) has the right to enact laws and give orders to the Muslims as stated in the Holy Quran. In this regard al-Qur'an says: (وَمَا آتَاكُمُ الرَّسُولُ فَخُذُوهُ وَمَا نَهَاكُمْ عَنْهُ فَانْتَهُوا) (59: 7). "And whatsoever the Messenger gives you take it, and whatsoever he prohibits you abstain from it".

Another important point in this Hadith is that if a matter is not mentioned in the Holy Qur'an or the Sunnah of the Prophet (Saw) it indicates that there is concession regarding this matter as mercy from Allah (Swt) and not due to forgetfulness.

The prime duty of a Muslim is to observe sincerely whatever he has been commanded by Allah (Swt) and His Messenger (Saw) and to abstain sincerely from that has been forbidden and commanded to abstain from by Allah (Swt) and His Messenger (Saw) and not to be entangled with those not mentioned clearly in the Qur'an and the Sunnah.

'Umar b. 'Abdul 'Aziz is reported to have said:

"Taqwa (piety and God fearing) does not mean spending the night in prayers and observing fasting in the day, but it means to perform Divine obligations and to avoid prohibitions, and if one acts additional good deeds this will be a light upon light.

Lecture: 6: Entering Paradise by Avoiding Arrogance, Stealing and Debt

عَنْ مَعْدَانَ بْنِ أَبِي طَلْحَةَ، عَنْ ثَوْبَانَ، - مَوْلَى رَسُولِ اللَّهِ ﷺ - عَنْ رَسُولِ اللَّهِ ﷺ أَنَّهُ قَالَ " مَنْ فَارَقَ الرُّوحَ الْجَسَدَ وَهُوَ بَرِيءٌ مِنْ ثَلَاثٍ دَخَلَ الْجَنَّةَ مِنَ الْكِبَرِ وَالْغُلُولِ وَالْدَّيْنِ (رواه ابن ماجه)

Translation:

Ethical description of the Hadith:

QUICK LESSONS:

Avoid arrogance ,stealing & debt .

EXPLANATIONS:

This hadith teaches us that if we want to enter paradise after death, we must avoid three things in our lives - arrogance, stealing from the spoils of war and debt. Arrogance is when someone thinks they are better than others or more important than them. Stealing from the spoils of war means taking something that does not belong to you without permission or authority. Debt is when someone owes money to another person or organization. If a person dies free from these three things then they will have a chance to enter paradise after death according to this hadith. We should strive in our lives to stay away from these three things so that we can have a chance at entering paradise after death

The term “al-ruh” used in several contexts:

1. The Revelation or the Quran: As Allah (Most High) says, “And so We have sent to you (O Prophet) a revelation (روحا) by Our command.” The revelation is called a “al-Ruh” because it brings life to hearts and souls or because it revives people from the death-like state of disbelief.
2. Strength, Steadfastness, and Support: Which Allah (Most High) grants to whom He wills among His believing servants. As He says, “For those (believers), Allah has instilled faith in their hearts and strengthened them with a spirit (روح) from Him” [Quran, 58:22]. It is also said that “spirit” here means mercy.
3. Gabriel: As Allah (Most High) says, “Which the trustworthy spirit (Gabriel) brought down into your heart (O Prophet)—so that you may be one of the warners—” [Quran, 26:193-194].
4. The Soul that Gives Life: This is what the Jews inquired about, and they were told that it is a matter from Allah. As He says, “They ask you (O Prophet) about the spirit. Say, ‘Its nature is known only to my Lord, and you (O humanity) have been given but little knowledge.’” [Quran, 17:85]. Jesus Christ, Son of Mary: As Allah (Most High) says, “The Messiah, Jesus, son of Mary, was no more than a messenger of Allah and the fulfillment of His Word through Mary and a spirit (created by a command) from Him.” [Quran, 4:171]. The reason for specifically attributing the soul of Jesus, peace be upon him, to Allah (Most High) is that Allah created him with His word; i.e., He created him through the word conveyed by Gabriel to Mary, who then b

5. Mercy: As in the verse, “For those (believers), Allah has instilled faith in their hearts and strengthened them with a spirit from Him.” [Quran, 58:22], and “O my sons! Go and search (diligently) for Joseph and his brother. And do not lose hope in the mercy of Allah, for no one loses hope in Allah’s mercy except those with no faith.” [Quran, 12:87]

6. The Breath Used in the Creation Process: As in, “(There is) also (the example of) Mary, the daughter of ‘Imrân, who guarded her chastity, so We breathed into her (womb) through Our angel (Gabriel). She testified to the words of her Lord and His Scriptures and was one of the (sincerely) devout.” [Quran, 66:12], referring to Gabriel’s act of blowing into her garment. [Zabidi, Taj al-‘Arus; Ibn Qayim, al-Ruh; Tahanawi, Kashaf Istilahat al-Funun; Ibn al-Jawzi, Nuzhat al-A‘yun al-Nawadir; ‘Abd al-‘Aal Salim Makram, al-Mushtarik al-Lafzi fi al-Haql al-Qurani]

Meaning of غلول and its punishment:

The word Gulul used in the sense of misappropriation in the spoils, which is a great sin. The word, ghulul غُلُول is also used in the absolute sense for خيانة khiyanah, a breach of trust, (misappropriation, pilferage and stealing). Misappropriation in Waqf properties and government Treasuries comes under Ghulul: غلول

The same rule applies to mosques, religious schools and institutions, khanqahs and properties of اوقاف awqaf (endowments) since they represent the contribution of millions of Muslims. the same rule holds good for public or government treasury بيت المال (Bayt al-Mal) because all citizens of a country have a right in it. One who steals from it steals from everyone.

Therefore, the punishment for ghulul or misappropriation is more severe as compared to common thefts. What else could be more severe for the misappropriator when he, before the eyes of the whole creation on the plains of resurrection and retribution, will find himself disgraced with what he had stolen all stacked on his neck? A narration from Sayyidna Abu Hurairah[ؓ] appearing in Al-Bukhari and Muslim reports that the Holy Prophet ﷺ said: 'Watch out, lest I see one of you with a camel loaded round his neck (and the announcement being made that this person had stolen a camel from the spoils). If this person asks me to intercede on his behalf, I shall tell him frankly that I had conveyed what Allah had commanded, now I cannot do anything about it.'

Rules of Debt: Islam takes the matter of debt very seriously and warns against it and urges the Muslim to avoid it as much as possible. Bukhārī and Muslim record that one of the du‘ās the Prophet (SAW) used to make at the end of every salāh involved seeking refuge in Allāh from heavy debt. Someone asked him, ‘How often you seek refuge from heavy debt!’ He remarked, “When a man goes into debt, he speaks and tells lies, and he makes promises and breaks them.” Moreover, he may die without having paid off the debt so he will be held hostage because of it, as the Prophet (peace and blessings of Allah be upon him) said: “The soul of the believer is held hostage by his debt in his grave until it is paid off.” Narrated by al-Tirmidhi, 1078.

The stern warning against being in debt that if a person was duly martyred in supporting the religion of Allah he will not enter Paradise unless he pays off his debts. Imam Muslim reported in his authentic book of Hadith: "Allah forgives all the sins of a martyr except unpaid debt".

Lesson from the Hadith:

This Hadith constitutes a great foundation on which Islam builds a number of accepted standards of behavior, good manners and rules of norms.

It teaches that Islam is a comprehensive way of life , it concerns matters of belief and doctrines as well as with all matters and aspects of everyday life . In other words, Islam aims at building and organizing the human society around solid faith, and on strong foundation.

Thus it becomes clear that Islam does not only lay proper codes of behavior but also relates them to faith. That is why it calls on its followers to avoid interference in others affairs, considering that an indication of one's goodness of religiosity and his excellent adherence to the teachings of Islam.

One's excellent adherence to Islam means to avoid what does not concern him in word and in deed, as well as to do what concerns him, i.e. to do good deeds and to refrain from evil.

Interference in others matters without their consent and request may lead to harm to both parties, especially the interferer and this in turn creates another problem.

A true believer should make a careful analysis of the matters related to him and take proper steps to determine to what extent. This matter shall be beneficial for him or harmful for him in this world and the world here after.

Refraining from vain talk about dirty activities has been praised in the Qur'an as one of the characteristics of the servants of the Merciful. It says:

"And (success are) those who unfailingly turn away from any falsehood and all that Allah has forbidden. (23:3)

Ethical description of the Hadith:

QUICK LESSONS:

Provide for their needs , Give same food & clothing , Help when burdened .

EXPLANATIONS:

The Prophet Muhammad (PBUH) taught us an important lesson about how to treat those who are under our control. He said that we should provide slaves with the same food and clothing that we have, so they can live comfortably. We should also not burden them with too much work or tasks; if we do give them a lot of work, then it is our responsibility to help them in completing it. This hadith teaches us the importance of being kind and compassionate towards others, even if they are in a lower position than us. It also reminds us of our responsibility as leaders or people in power to take care of those who are under our control.

This second hadith teaches us the importance of being gentle in our words and actions. It is narrated by Aishah, a wife of the Prophet Muhammad, that he said “Allah is Gentle and loves gentleness in all things” • . This means that Allah appreciates when we are kind to others and use gentle words when speaking to them. We should strive to be gentle with our family members, friends, neighbors, and even strangers. Being gentle can help us build strong relationships with those around us as well as show respect for their feelings and opinions. Additionally, it can also help us stay away from arguments or fights which can lead to negative consequences such as hurt feelings or broken relationships. Therefore, this hadith encourages us to practice gentleness in all aspects of life so that we may be closer to Allah through our good deeds and actions towards others.

- 1- That Islam wants to link up all its acts of goodness and charity to faith in Allah.
- 2- Speaking in decent words, having good character and doing good to others are the outcome of having good faith.
- 3- Belief of a Muslim should encompass his behavior and attitude also...
- 4- A true believer has not only sincere and firm faith in the Unity of God (Allah) and the last Day , his belief should rather be reflected in his saying, and speaking to others , in his behavior with his next door neighbor, his respect to the guests and in his overall dealings and behavior with others.

Ethical description of the Hadith:

QUICK LESSONS:

Be just rulers ; Worship ; Remember ; Have attachment ; Love each other ; Reject sin out of fear for god ; Give charity secretly .

EXPLANATIONS:

This hadith speaks about seven people who will receive shade from God on the Day of Resurrection. These people include a just ruler who rules with fairness and justice; a young man who worships God; someone who remembers

God when they are alone and their eyes fill with tears; someone whose heart is attached to the Masjid; two people who love each other for the sake of God; someone called by an attractive woman but rejects her out of fear for God; and someone who gives charity secretly so that even their own hands do not know what they have done. All these actions demonstrate piety towards God which is rewarded by His shade on Judgment Day. It teaches us that we should strive to be righteous in our actions as it will be rewarded by God's mercy on Judgment Day.

Ethical instructions of the Hadith:

In this beautiful Hadith, the Prophet (sallallaahu ‘alaihi wa sallam) spoke about small acts of worship which result in such a huge reward: shade on the Day when there will be no shade except His Shade [this shade refers to the Shade of Allah’s ‘Arsh (Throne) as is mentioned in other authentic Ahadith.]

This may not seem like much at first but then reflect upon the following Hadith: “On the Day of Resurrection, the sun would draw so close to the people that there would be left a distance of only a mile. The people will be submerged in perspiration according to their deeds, some up to their ankles, some up to their knees, some up to the waist and some would have the bridle of perspiration and, while saying this, the Messenger of Allah put his hand towards his mouth.” (Narrated by al-Miqdaad in Aswad and collected in Sahih Muslim)

And in another Hadith, some will be submerged in sweat “seventy armlengths in the earth.” (Narrated by Abu Hurairah and collected in Sahih al-Bukhari)

Let us examine the characteristics and virtues of these seven categories of people who will be worthy of such an exalted position on the Day of Gathering.

1. “A JUST RULER...”

The concept of Justice in Islam is very important and it is something which the Muslim – Ruler and the ruled – must apply in all matters without exception. Justice means to give each the right he deserves: Muslim or non-Muslim, relative or stranger, friend or enemy.

Allah says: “...And do not let hatred cause you to act unjustly, that is nearer to piety.” [Al-Maa’idah 5: 8]

Unfortunately, even if we admit this in theory, we quickly forget it in practice.

So we find that when we speak about our friends and loved ones, we praise them beyond reason and when we speak about those whom we hold difference with, we can find no good in them and we just capitalise on their bad points.

This is far removed from the justice which Allah loves and gives great reward for, as mentioned in the Hadith: “The doers of justice will be on thrones of light at Allah’s Right Hand – and both of Allah’s Hands are Right Hands – those who were just in their Ruling, with their families and in all that over which they were given authority.”

[Narrated by ‘Abdullah ibn ‘Umar and reported in Sahih Muslim. This hadith is one among several authentic Ahadith which prove that Allah, subhanahu wa ta’ala, has the Attribute of possessing Hands. Ahlus-Sunnah therefore affirm that belief that Allah has Hands. They do not delve into what His Hands are like, nor liken His Hands to the hands of creation, nor do they say that His Hands symbolise Power or anything else, since these claims have no basis except conjecture and opinion. And it is impermissible to say anything about Allah, except that which He affirms or denies about Himself, not going further than that.]

The concept of justice is most important for the Ruler, since he is in charge of the people and the prime disposer of justice in the land. For this reason, the Ruler is given special mention as one of the seven who will be honoured with Allah's Shade.

2. "A YOUTH WHO GREW UP IN THE WORSHIP OF ALLAH..."

The great scholar Ayyoob as-Sakhtiyaanee (d. 131H) said, "From the success of a youth or non-Arab is that Allah guides him to be a scholar of the Sunnah." [Hasan – reported in Sharh Usoolis-Sunnah of al-Laalikaa'ee]

Indeed, it is a great blessing from Allah for a youth to be guided towards worship and befriended by the righteous, since it is in youth that a person is most vulnerable to the temptations of life and liable to drift away from the Islamic Path. This becomes apparent when we look at the society around us and we see that most of the worldly distractions, such as music, games, clubs, fashion, etc, are all specifically targeted at the young.

"You're only young once," they are told, which is why many Muslims nowadays waste their youth thinking that they will pray, wear Hijab and go on Haj, etc when they are old, as if they have a guarantee of longevity from Allah! How well we would do to heed the Prophet's advice when he said: "Take benefit of five before five: your youth before old age, your health before sickness, your wealth before your poverty, your free time before you are preoccupied and your life before your death." [Sahih – Narrated by Ibn 'Abbass and collected in al-Haakim and others.]

3. "A MAN WHOSE HEART IS ATTACHED TO THE MASJIDS..."

There is great encouragement in the Sunnah for men to pray in the masjids and the reward associated with it is tremendous. [This applies only to men, because for women it is more meritorious for them to pray in their homes. This is based on the authentically related Hadith in Sunan Abu Daawood where it is reported that the Prophet said, "Do not prevent your women from going to the masjids, but their homes are better for them."]

Not only does it make the person eligible to Allah's Shade on the Day of Judgment, but, "he does not take a step (towards the masjid), except that because of it, he is raised by one rank and one sin is removed from him. Then, when he prays, the Angels do not cease supplicating for him (for) as long as he remains at his place of prayer (saying): O Allah send blessings upon him, O Allah have mercy upon him..." [Narrated by Abu Hurairah and collected in Sahih al-Bukhari.]

It must be emphasised here however that all the ahadith encouraging the men to be attached to the masjids are not intended to lead one to the conclusion that Islam is a Religion which should be confined to the masjids, as many people imagine (and as many governments would want in their countries!). Nonetheless, the masjid should be at the heart of the Muslim community, and the role of those in authority of the masjids is vital here. They are the ones mainly responsible for making the masjid a welcome refuge for the Muslims, rather than an arena for politics and power struggles as many seem to have become these days. And we seek Allah's refuge from this!

4. "TWO MEN WHO LOVE EACH OTHER FOR ALLAH'S SAKE, MEETING FOR THAT AND PARTING UPON THAT..."

Having mutual love for the sake of Allah is one of the great doors leading to the good of the Hereafter and a cause of tasting the sweetness of eemaan in this world. Loving one another for Allah's sake means that the Muslim does not love another except for the correctness of his Deen. So it does not matter what the person looks like, what he wears, how rich or poor he is, where he comes from, or what the colour of his skin is – perhaps you dislike everything about him, but you love him for his eemaan: this is loving for Allah's sake.

“Allah, the Mighty and Magnificent says: Those who have mutual love for the sake of My Glory will have pillars of light and will be envied by the Prophets and martyrs.” [Sahih – collected in Sunan at-Tirmidhee and Musnad Ahmad]

Subhaan Allah! Imagine being envied by Allah’s chosen Messengers and those who were slain in His Path! Such is the reward for those who love one another for Allah’s sake.

5. “A MAN WHO IS CALLED BY A WOMAN OF BEAUTY AND POSITION, BUT HE SAYS: ‘I FEAR ALLAH..’”

This world is full of temptations which lead to burning in the Fire, and amongst them is that which comes from women. Many a man has led his soul into destruction on account of the lure of a woman, which is why the Prophet (sallallaahu ‘alaihi wa sallam) warned his Ummah specifically about this. He said, “The world is sweet and green and verily Allah is going to install you as successors upon it in order to see how you act. So avoid the allurements of women: verily the first trial for the Children of Israa’eel was caused by women.” [Narrated by Abu Sa’eed al-Khudree and collected in Sahih Muslim.]

The most important provision which we need to protect ourselves from this and all other temptations in life is the fear (khawf) of Allah. This fact is alluded to in the following Qur’anic aayah: “And as for him who feared standing before his Lord and restrained himself from impure evil desires, verily Paradise will be his abode.” (An-Naazi’aat 79:40-41)

6. “A MAN WHO GIVES IN CHARITY AND HIDES IT, SUCH THAT HIS LEFT HAND DOES NOT KNOW WHAT HIS RIGHT HAND GIVES IN CHARITY...”

This describes the type of person who goes to great lengths to protect himself from ar-Riyaa. Ar-Riyaa means to do deeds in order to earn the praise and recognition of people. This sin destroys all the benefits that lie in righteous deeds and brings on a serious punishment for the one who commits it. It is particularly dangerous because it is in man’s nature to desire and enjoy the praise of others. Thus, great care has been taken to ensure that one’s intentions begin and remain pure whenever good actions (such as charity) are being done. Not like what we see today where we have masjid noticeboards announcing who gave what to whom, why and when!

Allah warns us: “O you who believe! Do not render vain your charity by reminders of your generosity or by injury, like him who spends his wealth to be seen of men and he does not believe in Allah nor in the Last Day.” (Al-Baqarah 2: 264). May Allah preserve us from this.

7. “...A MAN WHO REMEMBERED ALLAH IN PRIVATE AND SO HIS EYES SHED TEARS.”

Our noble Prophet (sallallaahu ‘alaihi wa sallam) informed us: “If you knew what I knew, you would laugh little and weep much.” [Narrated by Abu Hurairah and Anas and collected in Sahih Muslim]

Crying is not a ‘sissy’ thing to do. The Prophet, who was the best of all creation, would weep as would all of his Companions. Tears are a genuine expression of fear of Allah’s Punishment and of our sincere love and awe of Him. But how often do we remember Allah in seclusion and are then moved to tears? How much do we laugh and how little do we weep? The Prophet (sallallaahu ‘alaihi wa sallam) said, “There is nothing more beloved to Allah than two drops and two marks: A tear shed due to fear of Allah, and a drop of blood spilled in the Path of Allah. And as for the two marks, they are a mark caused in the Path of Allah, and a mark caused by fulfilling one of the duties made obligatory by Allah.” [Hasan – collected by at-Tirmidhee and al-Mishkaat]

Alhamdulillah, through these seven types of people mentioned in the hadith, we have been given clear signposts of the way to attain Allah’s pleasure and satisfaction. So dear brothers and sisters in eemaan, devote yourself to being one amongst those seven, for indeed fortunate will be those who are granted Allah’s Shade on the Day when there will be no shade but His. Terminologies:

التقوى: Al-taqwa

Al-Taqlwa is a comprehensive Islamic term that means sincerity, straight forwardness, God fearing and piety, which requires for one to be careful about the matters that cause the pleasure of the Almighty Allah (SWT) and conscious about the consequences of violating the commandments of Allah (Swt) and injunctions of His Prophet (Saw).

A pious person shall always, guard his tongue, heart and hands from doing any evil, which can cause him to attain displeasure of Allah (Swt).

The word تقوى has been translated differently by different scholars, e.g. piety, devoutness, God fearing, righteousness, religiosity etc to convey the true sense of this terminology, but as a matter of fact none of these words depicts the real meaning of تقوى.

Teaching and lessons from the Hadith :

This Hadith presents some basic guidelines of Islam which embodies the responsibilities of human beings towards Allah (Swt). It comprises:

1. Performing obligations and avoiding prohibitions.
2. Doing what is advisable and turning away from what is reprehensible.

However, considering the fact that ‘to err is Human’ a man of تقوى can also do wrong. Therefore, it has been instructed in this Hadith that wherever a believer, (who is supposed to be a man of تقوى) does any wrong deed he shall have to repent for this, and be steadfast for doing good deed which can erase his bad deed.

In this regard the following Hadith of the Prophet (Saw) may also be quoted here: The Prophet of Allah is reported to have said: All human beings are bound to make mistakes, but the best among them are those who return with repentance.” (Bulkari on the authority of Anas b. Malik H. No. 6862)

It is to be noted that there are two kinds of sins; e.g. minor (Sagira) sins and major (Kabirah) sins. The minor sins can be revoked by doing good deed, but the major sins cannot be revoked without Tawbah, which is the combination of the following:

- a. To repent for doing the sin sincerely.
- b. To give up the sins practically.
- c. To have firm decision for not to repeat it in future.

However Allah (Swt) can forgive even the major sin whom He wills.

Good behavior:

Islamic Shariah has given prime importance on good behavior. The following Hadith of the Prophet (Saw) may be cited to highlight the importance of good behavior.

Narrated on the authority of Abu Hurayrah (R) that one of the Companions of the Prophet (Saw) once asked him; “What is the best that has been given to a person? The prophet (Saw) replied: a good disposition.” It is also reported to have been said by the Prophet (Saw): “The most perfect Muslim in the matter of faith is one, who has an excellent behavior.”

عن أنس بن مالك - رضي الله عنه - قال كان النبي ﷺ يقول " اللَّهُمَّ إِنِّي أَعُوذُ بِكَ مِنَ الْعَجْزِ وَالْكَسَلِ وَالْجُبْنِ وَالْهَرَمِ، وَأَعُوذُ بِكَ مِنْ فِتْنَةِ الْمَحْيَا وَالْمَمَاتِ، وَأَعُوذُ بِكَ مِنْ عَذَابِ الْقَبْرِ (رواه البخاري)

وَعَنْ أَنَسٍ أَنَّ النَّبِيَّ ﷺ كَانَ يَقُولُ: اللَّهُمَّ إِنِّي أَعُوذُ بِكَ مِنَ الْبَرَصِ، وَالْجُنُونِ، وَالْجَذَامِ، وَسَيِّئِ الْأَسْقَامِ (رَوَاهُ أَبُو دَاوُدَ)

QUICK LESSONS:

Seek help from God when faced with difficulty or hardship; Do good deeds throughout one's life; Be humble despite greatness; Turn towards God for protection

EXPLANATIONS:

The hadith narrated by Anas bin Malik speaks of the Prophet's practice of seeking refuge with Allah from various difficulties in life. He would ask for protection from helplessness, laziness, cowardice, feeble old age, afflictions of life and death as well as punishment in the grave. This hadith teaches us that we should always turn to Allah for help when faced with any difficulty or hardship. We should also remember that our actions will be judged after death so we must strive to do good deeds throughout our lives. It is important to note that even though the Prophet was a great man who was beloved by Allah, he still sought refuge with Him just like any other person would do. This shows us how humble he was despite his greatness and it serves as an example for us all to follow in our own lives.

In second Hadith the Prophet (may Allah's peace and blessings be upon him) seeks refuge in Allah from specific illnesses. However, when the Messenger of Allah (may Allah's peace and blessings be upon him) seeks refuge in Allah from them, this means that they are very dangerous and have a very bad effect. The Prophet (may Allah's peace and blessings be upon him) sought Allah's refuge from a group of particular diseases, then he asked Allah to keep him healthy and safe from all evil and bad diseases in general. This supplication includes a specific and detailed part followed by a general and comprehensive part. To clarify, the Prophet (may Allah's peace and blessings be upon him) sought refuge in Allah from leucoderma, a disease in which white spots appear on the skin, that makes people turn and run away from the one who has it. This causes man to become isolated and thus feel discontented - Allah forbids. Insanity refers to the disappearance of one's mind. The mind is the thing which makes one competent for religious assignment, and with it one worships his Lord as well as ponders and reflects on Allah's creation and holy Speech. Hence, absence of mind means that man does not exist. For this reason, the Prophet (may Allah's peace and blessings be upon him) said: "There are three (kinds of people) whose actions are not recorded:

(one of them is) and the insane until his mind is back." "Leprosy" is a type of sickness that eats at one's organs until they fall off, Allah forbids. It is a contagious disease, and this is why it was mentioned in another Hadīth: "Flee from the leper as you would flee from a lion." "Evil and bad diseases are the disabilities that make one feel disdained and rejected in the society, such as cancer, blindness, paralysis, etc. This is because these types of diseases are serious and need a lot of money for treatment. They also need great patience that are only shown by those whom Allah, the Almighty, grants patience and strengthens their hearts. This Hadīth shows the greatness of Islam that protects the Muslim's religion and cares for his body.
