

UREL-1202Joining sentences

'So that' is used to tell the purpose of activities.
1. We read the holy Quran. 2. We want to earn virtues.	We read the holy Quran so that we can earn the virtues.
1. He came to me yesterday. 2. His purpose was to seek my support.	He came to me yesterday so that he could seek my support.
1. He is working hard day and night. 2. His aim is to shine in life.	He is working hard day and night so that he can shine in life.
1. He is earning a lot of money. 2. He wishes to lead a prosperous life.	He is earning a lot of money so that he can lead a prosperous life.
1. I went to the station. 2. I wanted to receive my father.	I went to the station so that I could receive my father
Structure: First sentence+ so that+ subject+ can/could/may/might+ verb of 2 nd sentence+ rest of the sentence.
'So+ adjective + that' is used to express the excessive measure of something.
1. I am very week. 2. I can't even speak.	I am so weak that I can't even speak.
1. The old man was badly sick. 2. He could not eat and drink.	The old man was so weak that he could not eat and drink.
1. I am tremendously happy. 2. I can't express my joy in words.	I am so happy that I can't express my joy in words.
1. The tea was very hot. 2. I could not sip it.	The tea was so hot that I could not sip it.
1. I am extremely sorry. 2. I can't show my usual frankness to any one.	I am so sorry that I can't show my usual frankness to anyone.
Structure: Subject+ verb+ replacement of very/extremely/badly/tremendously/so much with 'so'+ adjective+ second sentence
'Too+ adjective+ to' is used to express the same meaning of 'so+ adj.+ that'
The above examples are shown with 'too-to'
1. I am very week. 2. I can't even speak.	I am too weak to speak.
1. The old man was badly sick. 2. He could not eat and drink.	The old man is too sick to eat and drink.
1. I am tremendously happy. 2. I can't express my joy in words.	I am too happy to express my joy in words.
1. The tea was very hot. 2. I could not sip it.	The tea was too hot for me to sip.
1. I am extremely sorry. 2. I can't show my usual frankness to any one.	I am too sorry to show my usual frankness to anyone.
Because of is used to tell the reason of some activity
1. You have failed. 2. You have neglected your lessons.	Because of neglecting your lessons you have failed.
1. He will not take any bribe. 2. He is an honest person.	Because of being an honest person he will not take any bribe.
1. You have succeeded. 2. You have a lot of experiences in this field.	Because of having a lot of experiences in this field you have succeeded.
1. You became sick. 2. You ate excessively.	Because of eating excessively you became sick.
1. You are fed up with him. 2. You did not speak to him.	Because of being fed up with him you did not speak to him.
Structure: Because of + being/ having/ verb+ing/+ rest of the sentence after the verb + second sentence.
'Not only--- but also' is used when it needs to be indicated that one persons holds two qualities.
1. My father is a politician. 2. He is a businessman.	My father is not only a politician but also a businessman.
1. Your uncle is a good speaker. 2. He is a respected leader.	Your uncle is not only a good speaker but also a respected leader.

1. He is a good orator. 2. He is a good writer.	He is not only a good orator but also a good writer.
1. Shakespeare was a dramatist. 2. He was one of the greatest poets in English literature.	Shakespeare was not only a dramatist but also one of the greatest poets in English literature.
Structure: Subject + verb + not only + first quality + but also + second quality + rest of the sentence.
'In spite of' is used when it is needed to indicate that the expected result was not found.
1. He is an honest man. 2. Some people speak ill of him.	In spite of being an honest man some people speak ill of him.
1. We worked hard. 2. We could not earn enough money.	In spite of working hard we could not earn enough money.
1. He has lots of wealth. 2. He is unhappy.	In spite of having lots of wealth he is unhappy.
1. The man had a lot of properties. 2. He led a very poor life.	In spite of having a lot of properties the man led a very poor life.
Structure: In spite of + being/having/ verb+ing/ + rest of the sentence after the verb + second sentence
'Till/ until' is used to indicate the end of the period of some activity
1. Wait here. 2. Don't move before my coming.	Wait here till I don't come.
1. You will not succeed in your activities. 2. You will succeed if you are sincere.	You will not succeed until you are sincere.
1. During the holy month of Ramadan we don't eat anything. 2. We eat when the sun sets.	During the holy month of Ramadan we don't eat anything till the sunsets.

Mixed Exercise

(Join the following pairs of sentences with the words/phrases given in the parenthesis.)

- a. He came to me yesterday. His purpose was to seek my support. (So that)
- b. I am tremendously happy. I can't express my joy in words. (So---that)
- c. I am very weak I can't even speak. (Too----to)
- d. He will not take any bribe. He is an honest person. (Because of)
- e. The man had a lot of properties. He died without any treatment. (In spite of)
- f. He is a politician. He is a writer also. (Not only, but also)
- g. Your uncle is a good speaker. He is a respected leader. (Not only, but also)
- h. I bought a computer. I wanted to browse internet. (so that)
- i. We read the holy Quran. We want to reshape our life in the light of the Quran. (so that)
- j. I was extremely bewildered. I couldn't talk for a few minutes. (so---that)
- k. These dresses are extraordinarily beautiful. Anybody can not but like them. (so-that)
- l. The boy is unimaginably foolish. He can't even understand a simple matter. (too—to)
- m. You were absent from yesterday's class. You couldn't understand the lesson. (because of)
- n. He took wrong medicine. He suffered from serious side effect. (because of)
- o. There was serious political turmoil in the country. We couldn't complete the syllabus. (because)
- p. She remained continuously absent. The authority allowed her to sit for exams. (in spite of)
- q. All the students donated for the flood affected people. Their guardians also donated for the flood affected people. (not only---but also)