

CAUSATIVE VERB "HAVE"

"Have" as a causative verb expresses the idea that a person requires a service or help from somebody else. It may be used in all tenses and the doer of the action may be mentioned or not. Its meaning is similar to that of passive voice.

Examples:

George had the barber cut his hair.

George had his hair cut.

S. +have+doer+ simple verb + what?

S.+have+what+past participle

Exercise 1.

Use the causative verb "have" to say who does the activities Mr. Rich doesn't do. (mention the doer in brackets)

Example: He doesn't repair his car. (mechanic) – He has the mechanic repair it.

1. He doesn't paint his house. (painter)
2. He doesn't repair the t. v. set or stereo. (electrician)
3. He doesn't wash his clothes. (dry cleaners)
4. He doesn't shop for groceries. (driver)
5. He doesn't make his bed. (housekeeper)
6. He doesn't answer the calls at the office. (secretary)
7. He doesn't repair the kitchen sink when it brakes. (plumber)
8. He doesn't make his suits. (tailor)
9. He doesn't mend his clothes. (wife)
10. He doesn't take his children to the park. (driver)
11. He doesn't buy his plane tickets. (secretary)
12. He doesn't pay his bills at the bank. (messenger)
13. He doesn't pick up his children from school. (driver)
14. He doesn't prepare his meals. (the cook)
15. He doesn't write memos. (his secretary)